John J. Selsick, Alias Perry, Makes Attempt to Shoot Officer.

SUN FAILS TO EXPLODE

Clipped 0.8, Chief of Police Peter M. Murphy and Policeman Humbertson Are on Watch When Perry Draws Gun on Motorists; Hearing Tonight.

Charged with a series of many robberies at the end of the paved section of Wilks road in East Park, John J. Selsick, alias John Perry, who said he was 18, was arrested Monday night by Chief of Police Peter M. Murphy and Patrolman C. E. Humbertson. The young man was caught just after he had attempted to hold up a man in a machine.

Although the robberies have been occurring with frequency during the past month, many have not been reported to the police, but indirect rumors have been reaching the ears of Chief Murphy. In the past week Perry had been unusually active, holding up cars on Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday. It was while attempting to complete a job last night that he was arrested.

Saturday night Clarence Robinson, of the West Side, and a local young woman walked up that direction. They were suddenly confronted by a high-voltage man who demanded that they throw up their hands. He went through Robinson's pockets and then ordered them further up the road. Robinson protested but he was told he didn't hurry he might never return to town. Near the woods Perry held his victims' hands and, searching for a few dollars he found in Robinson's pocket, remarking he didn't want any money. Tying the young woman's hands he took her into the woods and criminally assaulted her, it is alleged.

It was when this episode was reported to the police that Chief Murphy became active. Last night, accompanied by Patrolman Humbertson and the girl, the officer went to the same place. An automobile was standing in the road nearby and suddenly shot rang out. The car was called to explode, saying Humbertson's life was in danger. The girl was identified by the girl.

The youthful robber wore a mask made of a polka-dotted bandana handkerchief. He said his last night was to have been the final one. He was endeavoring to secure money to help his parents, he said, not having seen them since being discharged from the Washington Training School at Washington, D. C., where he spent some time for the robbery of a post-office sub-station in Cleveland. He is of Polish birth, but came to this country with his parents when only a child.

More Plants and Ovens in Blast at Beginning 7th Week

MAY 22-29 FIXED BY MAYOR AS DATE FOR CITY CLEAN-UP

Special Permit for Burning of Rubbish Provided Opening Day.

FEW SUGGESTIONS LISTED

Begin at Attic and Keep on Down to Cellar, Throwing Out Accumulation of Forgotten Rubbish; Time to Screen Against Flies, Executive Says

Connellsville will undergo a thorough clean-up. A proclamation, setting apart the week of May 22-29 for that purpose, has been issued by Mayor Charles C. Mitchell, in which he calls on all citizens to put their properties in shape for the hot summer months and to do away with all filth and debris which might tend to breed disease germs.

In order that the clean-up will not be a hardship the first day, May 22, has been designated as one on which all rubbish and other waste stuffs may be burned. The city ordinance prohibits fire within the boundary lines, but the special permission is being granted to aid in the clean-up movement. The first day only, however, will be allowed for the burning of filth.

The proclamation follows: "Much has been realized from the several clean-up weeks of years past in Connellsville. Our city today, I feel, stands well among the best in the State in respect to cleanliness and health, and desiring to maintain this excellent record, I therefore, call upon all the citizens of Connellsville to clean from their properties all accumulations of the past winter of rubbish or other matter detrimental to the health of the community and designate the week of May 22 for such work to be done.

It is the duty of every citizen to do his or her full share that Clean-Up Week shall be thorough and the community put in the most beautiful condition possible to make it. That our work shall be well done let us have in mind, first above all, the health and comfort of all our citizens, second, the prevention of fire, often the result of accumulation of rubbish, and last the general benefit of the city. On the first day only, burn all that is possible to burn.

Charles C. Mitchell, Mayor. A number of suggestions accompanying the proclamation are: Begin on the inside. Clear up the attic. You will find things there you had forgotten. Throw them out. Object is to Make It Available for Use by Automobiles.

STREET IS TOO NARROW

SOUTH CONNELLSVILLE, May 16. Street Commissioner Gus McElhenny was instructed by the borough council at its regular meeting last evening to have his men ready to go to work on Wednesday morning at which time the West Penn Railway has promised to have a number of men working on the planking of the car track from Woodlawn avenue south in order to make the street wider.

The West Penn recently put in a new line of poles from Woodlawn to Wine street and had to set them out three or four feet further east, as the old line of poles was not correctly located, making the street too narrow for two automobiles except by using the trolley track.

It was planned at the meeting to have a new set of ordinances drawn up to take the place of the old ones, on account of a fisher being out of date. Bills to the amount of $500 were paid, leaving a balance of $112 in the treasury.

If you're free from constipation show this to some sufferer!

One of the greatest benefits to humanity that has been made available to every man, woman and child in America is Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumpled. Kellogg's Bran will relieve constipation promptly if it is eaten regularly. If people of this nation generally would eat Kellogg's Bran also the tide of all sickness would be eliminated.
 Physicians endorse Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumpled, for constipation because constipation is naturally relieved through proper food. We guarantee Kellogg's Bran will relieve constipation if at least two tablespoonfuls are eaten daily. We advise as much as necessary for chronic cases.
 Kellogg's Bran acts as a sweeter, cleansing and purifying. But it is not a "candy," rather a nature food. Unlike pills and cathartics, which are not only irritating to the delicate intestinal tract, and afford but temporary relief at best—Bran is not habit-forming. Effects of pills and cathartics wear off and it is necessary for the sufferer to find a new and more violent bowel opener. Kellogg's Bran never ceases its regular work.
 Kellogg's Bran at the same time will clear a pimply complexion and sweeten the breath.
 Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumpled, is one of the most delicious cereals you ever ate. Its nutlike flavor is delightful. Or sprinkle it on your favorite cereal and use it in various foods such as bread, muffins, pancakes, gravies, etc. Recipes on packages. Get it at your grocer's.

Youth of 18 Caught in the Act, Confesses To Number Hold-Ups

 He calmly admitted the robberies, recalling incidents of many of them, beginning with the night when he held up William Sellers and W. W. Palmer, taking $20 and a gold watch from the former. He remembered the remark Sellers made about going up the road to be relieved of his valuables. He also admits having attacked the girl.
 On May 11 he said he held up Cyrus Grubbs and Grubbs, seeing several dollars and on the following night two men and two girls were the victims. He robbed the men but allowed the girls to keep their valuables. On May 13 he robbed Robinson and assaulted the girl. Sunday night Walter Moorman and Philip Gorman of South Connelville were his victims.
 The two had driven up the road for a spin and were preparing to turn when the engine of the car stalled. Perry stepped up and demanded their money. The men had seen the robber in the road as they were preparing to turn and being suspicious of him Gorman succeeded in slipping his wallet beneath the seat. Moorman was not so fortunate, however, and Perry got $30. He overlooked a check for $500 in a packet of papers he allowed Moorman to keep.
 Statements were secured this morning from Grubbs, Sellers, Palmer and Robinson. Others were expected before the end of the day. The police believe Perry has committed more robberies than have been reported.
 The young man has been employed on the Steiner farm in Connelville township. He lived in a little hut along the road just beyond the water-lining trough, not far from the scene of his operations.
 The capture of the young highwayman was the subject of talk everywhere in the city today. The reported robberies were occurring with such frequency lately that the quick action of Chief Murphy in stamping it out resulted in a flood of congratulations. Patrolman Humberston risked his life to get the man and was saved only because of the failure of the cartridge to explode and the quickness on the part of his chief who yelled Perry before he had time to pull the trigger again.
 Perry will be given a hearing this evening before Alderman W. D. Colborn.

PROGRESS OF THE STRIKE.

While there has been no pronounced break-in the ranks of the strikers in the unionized districts, with the exception of some sections of West Virginia, the situation at the beginning of the seventh week of the walkout of miners apparently gives consumers of coal and coke very little concern. The increase in coal production last week by upwards of half a million tons to a total of 4,500,000 tons shows that there has been a larger demand upon the non-union districts but these are not yet up to maximum production. The fact that practically 15,000 cars of unassigned coal were standing on the sidings at the close of the week, and that the daily average of such accumulations was almost equal to the daily production, indicates very plainly that the coal consuming trade has no present need for more coal than is being mined and no fear that a supply will not be forthcoming.

These conditions prove conclusively that the strike has not served to tie up the mining regions as generally as it was predicted would be the result within a very short time after April 1. It has been the history of previous coal strikes that once production begins an upward turn after the peak of effort to stop it has been reached, the course thereafter is toward a gradual increase. The present strike is no exception, the truth of which will be emphasized as the demand for coal becomes heavier. Such a demand is developing but not in sufficient volume to call for unusual activity in the fields unaffected by the strike. To induce the inactive fields to make a start toward resumption. As this demand grows it will be found that it will be fully met by larger output in the non-union fields and the sections of the union fields where the grip of the strike leaders is beginning to weaken.

As far as relates to the Connells-ville region the weekly increase in shipments of coal and coke give incontrovertible proof that the strike is definitely losing ground every day. Production of both coal and coke is still far below normal but slow gains are being made. These are being affected by the starting up of the small mines and by gradual additions to the output of the larger ones. The H. C. Frick Coke Company has restored three coking operations and over 700 ovens to activity since the strike began which represents the progress in the direction of a recovery in this branch of the region's fuel industry. Just how many small mines are producing coal is not precisely known, additions to the list being made almost daily.

The developments in the situation are significant of the trend of sentiment among employees. Many of those who quit work in the early stages of the strike realize the futility of further depriving themselves and families of the earnings needed for their support and comfort. They also realize that the strike has permanently diverted a lot of business from the Connellsville region to other fields and the longer the plants are idle the greater will be the loss of trade. A certain effect will be that when the strike is finally lost, as is inevitable there will be fewer men needed to mine the coal and make the coke for such consumers as will remain on the producers' lists.

Calmly weighing and considering all the facts of the case and knowing that suffering for themselves and families will be the price they must pay for more prolonged idleness, the men who left their jobs at the behest of visiting organizers whose pay goes on no matter how many four barrels become empty in the workers' homes are making up their minds that the time has come when they should go to work. In face of the objections of the leaders, and the more obstinate minor H. C. Frick, taking such a course is a terrible courage on the part of many men but they are beginning to feel they have a much more solemn duty to wives and children than they have to a group of organizers who do not feel the pinch of the strike and will not so long as the funds hold out to pay their salaries and expenses.

A straight shooting messenger is the best insurance against robbery the express companies can obtain.

To about half of the candidates to day is of more lively interest than tomorrow is likely to be.

All that is needed to make the world sit up and take notice of Connellsville is to have the story of a honest nouncement was made today of the selection of "Clarence," by Booth Farrington, as the senior class play.

Wheeler, Wilmar Werry; Fannie
Wheeler, his wife, Arnesad Quor;

Mullin; Bobby Wheeler, their son.

gar Robbs.

The class sermon will be delivered in the Grand Opera House on Sunday, May 28, with Rev. C. W. Hendrickson preaching the sermon.

The class play will be given in the Grand Opera House on Thursday evening, June 1.

Commencement exercises will be held in the Grand Opera House Tuesday evening, June 2, with Dr. John C.
Anderson, president of the Pittsburg College for Women, as the principal speaker.

Get By Harsh Wife.
William Brier, of Eagle street and
A. B. Cooper, were both very badly cut Sunday while out automobile riding. Brier across the face and under the left eye and Cooper on the arm.
They were driving with Harold Anderson on the Somerset pike when two cars approached. Anderson, in an effort to keep from striking them ran off the side of the road. Barbed wire fencing had been torn loose and the wire caught first on Brier and then Cooper.

Census of Service Men.
James E. Gunkel Post, The American Legion, under Commander Harry Fiddler, today began a census of former service men in Mount Pleasant and vicinity. All persons knowing of any will confer a favor by sending in the names to Mr. Fiddler.

Personal News.
Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Miller of Dor-mont spent the week-end here with Mrs. Miller's mother, Mrs. Catherine Dullinger.

John Fitzpatrick of Duynna, Okla., where he is interested in oil wells,
arrived home today to see his sister, Susan, whose condition was so much improved that she was removed from the Memorial Hospital to her home in Sixth Diamond street.

WHO WEARS OUT YOUR HUSBAND'S CUFF EDGES?

It is not your husband's fault that his cuffs get frayed and have to be turned while the shirt is still good. To be sure he gets the cuffs dirtier than any other part of the shirt, but it is the rubbing you do getting the dirt out that wears the material.

Most of that rubbing is not necessary. Soaking in Rinso will get the cuffs just as clean without weakening a single thread. The rich, cleansing Rinso suds gently loosen all the dirt so that a thorough rinsing carries it off. If there is sometimes a fine line
that is not entirely soaked out, rub lightly with dry Rinso, and that too will disappear at once.

Make your husband's shirts
last twice as long. Save the wear and tear of rubbing so disastrous to clothes, such a drain on your own strength.

NO DISPUTE POSSIBLE

When You Settle With Your Creditors
By Check.

A paid check is positive proof of payment—an iron-clad receipt—and you get such a receipt automatically
when you pay your bills by check.
It's safer and more convenient, too,
than paying with cash. Large or small, your checking account is welcome at the First National of Connelville

nancial transactions is assured.—Ad-

"Mothers All Over the World Should Be Told About Sykes Comfort Powder," says Nurse Fry

Independence, Mo.—"I wish I could tell mothers all over the world about Sykes Comfort Powder. I could write all day of the wonderful results
I have had using it on children.
It has proved over and over again it is the only powder that will heal and prevent chafing, scaling, rashes, skin irritations and sores, and the little baby whose picture I am sending you has always been entirely free from such troubles by its use."
—Laura M. Fry, Independence, Mo.

The reason Sykes Comfort Powder is so successful in such cases is because it contains six healing and antiseptic ingredients not found in ordinary talcum. Physicians, mothers and nurses call it "A Healing Wonder."

Fifty-Four New Families Added to Red Cross Home Service List During April

The Fayette County Red Cross, in its monthly report to the executive committee, for April shows that 54 new families made application for assistance through its home service section. Of these 54 new applications, 32 were classified as civilian cases and 22 cases of ex-service men. In addition to the new cases handled, over 300 carried over cases were dealt with, so that nearly 375 cases, representing at least twice this number of individuals, were rendered some form of assistance during the month of April. Financial assistance was given to the amount of $101.42.

The two Red Cross nurses made 276 visits during April. This included regular nursing visits, infant welfare, prenatal, school and clinic visits. In addition to the regular nursing service a number of patients were taken to Pittsburgh or to local hospitals for special treatment and observation; a

Chinese Grass and Chinese Rattan Summer Furniture is something new in Connelville. Many people think willow and rattan are one and the same, but they are not. This furniture is made only in China, and is imported direct from Singapore. Rattan is in constant demand because it is light, capable of bending double without cracking, and is easily worked into the intricate patterns demanded by modern artistic furniture.

The Sporting World

Finale of Spring Boxing Season Will Be Marked by Carter-Dunn Show Tonight

Heavy-Hitting Kayo King and Local Negro to Fight 10 Rounds.

GREAT CROWD EXPECTED

By James M. Driscoll
Sporting Editor.

Tonight's night. At 8:30 o'clock the curtain will rise on the final boxing show of the spring season and the Connellsville Athletic Club will stimulate down until next fall, and possibly for all time, especially if the show falls to "go over."

One of the best cards ever offered to local fans is the production of the efforts of the matchmaker. The feature bout is a 10-round affair between Bill Carter, a local colored youth of 20, who will meet some one of the great stars in Charlie Dunn, the kayo artist of Ambridge. This fight is one of anticipation entirely. There are those who believe Carter will be knocked out early and others think he will match his opponent, hit for hit. Plenty of hitting will be in evidence, however, as neither is a weakling in the punching branch.

Charlie Dunn has a host of followers in this city who will attend the fight tonight to see him in action again. The Ambridge boxer made his friends here when the fight was just getting under way, directed by Dulce Barry. He has not beaten the city since and when the new club offered him a contract, he readily accepted.

Carter has been coming along in good style and is just in stage where every match is either a forward or backward step in his career. This makes it certain that the negro will not keep anything hidden but will put forth his all to win.

In the semi-final is a bout which will rival the main fracas. Young Mulligan of Pittsburgh and Eddie Borsard, two 130-pounders, full of dynamic life, will mix it for eight rounds. This program of blows will add zest to the show from the spectators' point of view as both are aggressive and never kill time hunting an opportunity to land a single telling blow.

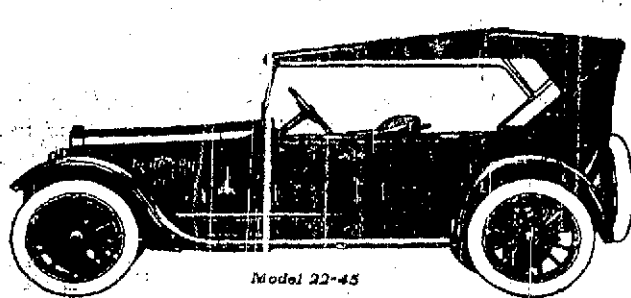

The opener is a six-frame contest, also full of interest to local fans. It brings together representatives of opposite ends of the county, matching "Kid" Hanlon of Trotter with Doty Turner of Uniontown. Hanlon is a youngster whose merits are loudly advertised by his village folk, and recognition has been given them by affording him a place on tonight's card. The youngster will meet a real opponent in "Doty" Turner and will undoubtedly assimilate lots of punishment. His friends say we can administer a little of the same thing.

BALL PLAYER BREAKS LEG IN SLIDING

Charles Pliss, a member of the Jr. C. U. A. M. baseball team which played the West Penn nine in a City League contest at Fayette Field last evening, suffered a broken leg while sliding into third base in the second inning. He was removed to the Cottage State Hospital.

The accident is the first serious one reported this season. The accident seemed to take the pep from the Juniors, as it failed to do much in the scoring line after that and was defeated, 16-3. Up to that time the Juniors had been in the game.

Andy Thomas of the junior team delivered three healthy clubs but before the Juniors could tighten up in

The Winning Pair: PREST-O-LITE Trademark and PREST-O-LITE Price

When you consider that you can get a Prest-O-Lite Battery at $19.90 (trade-in price for popular makes of light cars) — and link it up with the Prest-O-Lite trademark, — and remember that it contains the famous Prest-O-Plates, — and is guaranteed by the regular Prest-O-Lite guaranty, a generous, definite obligation, plus a spirit that says the car owner must be pleased. — you are sure to realize that the Prest-O-Lite Battery is the best buy on the market. There are correspondingly low prices for other types of Prest-O-Lite Batteries.

How is your battery acting? If it is not working eagerly and vigorously, drive around and let our specialists prescribe the right treatment for it. Our business is to prolong the life of all batteries. We never say you need a new battery until you do.

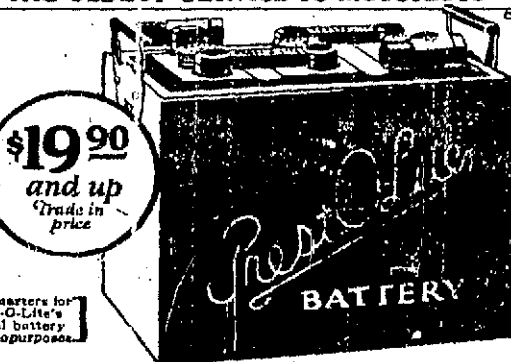

We are part of the Prest-O-Lite Service, the oldest organized service to motorists.

It was so slight that even his trained ears sent the message to his brain doubtfully. But it came again. Some one had very softly clicked back the latch of one of the windows.

He had the sense of a listener beneath it, and, all alert Wilton crouched noiselessly to his feet and stood listening in the darkness. Now there was no doubt. The window was being pushed very softly open. It was the window between the safe and his bedroom door. In the moonlight Wilton could see that it was opening by inches.

His own door was slightly ajar, and, inch by inch, he pushed it open, too. He saw a pair of hands, white, not work-roughened, placed against the bottom of the window-frame. A face appeared and was thrust cautiously inside the room in reconnaissance. Wilton recognized Lee Chambers.

Satisfied, apparently, that Wilton was asleep in the next room, Chambers began to climb over the sill. Wilton waited till he was balanced there, and then, leaping forward, he drove his fist with all his force into his face. He felt the bone of the nose smash under his hand.

With a muffled cry Lee Chambers lunged up his hands, slipped backward and fell. As Wilton ran to the window the ex-engineer leaped up and raced toward the trees. The thought of his treachery came into Wilton's mind and turned his sardonic humor into rage. He reached into his desk drawer and pulled out the loaded revolver which he kept there. But by the time he was at the window again Chambers was gone.

Three months later an engine pushed two ballast trucks westward along the east shore of Big Muskeg. The swamp was spanned. The corduroy had been laid upon the snags, holes, and had borne the ballasting. The trestling ran from bank to bank and carried the metals firmly, but the foundation was only as yet laid halfway and the final proof had yet to be made.

However, Wilton had no doubts of the result. He had tried out the danger spots. The trestle would contain the blast. His work had been accomplished.

After the subsidence he had paid a flying visit to Clayton. He had not seen Kitty, and Kitty had not returned to the camp but he had had a stormy meeting with the directors and, as he had foreseen, had been given his chance to try once more. There was, indeed, nothing else to be done. Bowyer had made the most of the disaster, but it was to Bowyer's interest that Wilton should try again and fail. That would put the Mississippi promptly into liquidation.

Now Wilton had succeeded. Big Muskeg was conquered, and on the east shore the vanguard of the line was driving the cleared way forward and pegging out the way for the metals. Soon grading would begin. Wilton's camp would shrink, and the engines would be moved ahead, and—he would have time to think.

He dreaded that. He had not seen Molly or the factor since that night of the subsidence. He knew that Bowyer had paid more than one visit to the store, but he shrugged his shoulders and put it out of his mind.

The workmen, after their months of arduous labor had begun to grow slack. There was restiveness in the camp. Once or twice Wilton had seen signs of liquor. He detected it in the slowing up of work; he had smelled it in the bunkhouses—the penetrating odor of cheap alcohol, with its suggestion of gasoline.

Anderson, forestalling him, came to him about the time of this discovery. "They're getting that rot out again, Mr. Carruthers," he said. "I don't know where I'm keeping my eyes peeled, but I ain't said nothing."

"The best policy," said Wilton. "The men have worked hard. When this job's finished we'll let them slack up for a day or two. Then we'll get down to business on this proposition. But if you find out anything let me know at once."

A few days later came the spanning of the swamp. On the same afternoon a summons came from the court, together with a letter from Quinn. The police had at last picked up Papillon and Passepartout, and had recovered the rifle and transit compass Wilton was wanted in Clayton to give evidence against the men.

The call was opportune. Wilton had already determined to put into execution a plan that he had formed. It was now October, and little more than two months remained before the loan would be called. That would give Bowyer the control of the Mississippi. Driven by the ironical realization that he was working for Bowyer, Wilton had resolved to go to Clayton as soon as the trestling was completed, and try to raise the money to pay Payre who, he knew, would not renew the note.

Big Muskeg was spanned. And on the strength of that, Wilton believed the time had come to give the secret to the world. He would publish far and wide the secret of the wheat lands. He would establish himself at confidence in the line to make the raising of a loan a possibility.

Before leaving he placed a night guard on duty over the office, and arranged with Anderson to have three or four reliable men on watch in the event of the laborers attempting to cross the portage. He went to Clayton and laid his statement before a directors' meeting. They heard him in frigid silence.

"That's an old story," said Curtis.

"That's an Old Story," said Curtis, the Vice-President, When He Had Finished.

the vice-president, when he had finished.

An angry wrangle followed, which led nowhere. They flatly refused to spend any money on advertising. All the while Payre leaning back in his chair, looked on and took no part in the proceedings.

"It comes to this," said Curtis finally thumping his table energetically. "We'll have to increase our capital. The delay has eaten into our reserves. We'll have to push straight toward our objective, the Transcontinental. Then we'll have the monopoly of a steady freightage business."

He could not get them to listen to the story of the wheat lands. Wilton wanted to advertise it widely, to open it up to homesteaders. He had plans for elevators. But the directors who resented Kitty's control were dead against him and he got no thanks for what he had done.
